'Sublime Stitches' Evenweave Pages 4 - 6 Patterns 46 - 85

To help position the patterns correctly on the fabric and to see how they relate to each other look carefully at the embroidery. If only a small part of a pattern is shown on one page leave it until the following month and work the pattern as a whole.

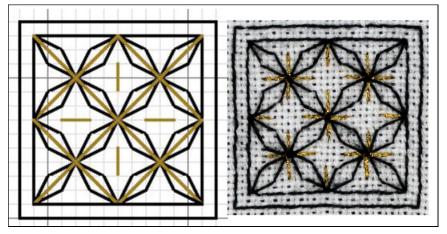

The patterns to be added this month are the remaining ones from Page 5 and Patterns 26 - 29 from Page 2

Patterns 46-85 complete the full width of the design excluding the borders

Pattern 75 Blackwork and gold petal motifs

Technique: Blackwork Threads: DMC 310, E3852

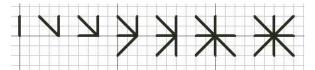

Where stitches are worked over 2x4 threads use one long stitch to create a smooth line.

The pattern can be worked in two different ways:

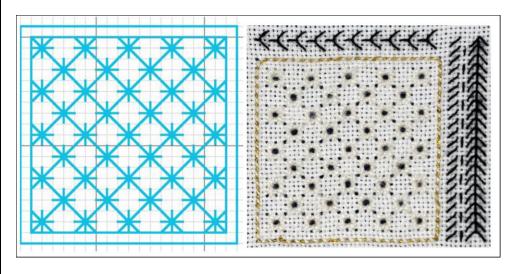

- a. the gold line stitched through the petals on the diagonal, or
- b. as upright gold crosses.

Pattern 76 Detached eyelets

Technique: Pulled thread work Threads: DMC Cotton Pérle No.12 or two strands of floss

Creating an 8 arm eyelet stitch! Work from the outside to the centre

Work the eyelet in 8 stitches from the outside to the centre creating a small hole.

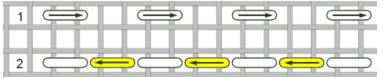

Bring the thread through at the top LH corner of the pattern. Insert the eyelet over 4 threads. Move from one eyelet to the next leaving four threads between each eyelet

Pull tight to create the holes.

Work a back stitch border round the outside of the block in gold metallic thread, or work two back stitch borders round the block in DMC Cotton Pérle No.12.

Patterns 77, 78, 81 Blackwork embroidery stitches and Assisi Band

Assisi embroidery is a form of counted-thread embroidery based on an ancient Italian needlework tradition in which the background is filled with embroidery stitches and the main motifs are outlined but not stitched. The name is derived from the Italian town of Assisi where the modern form of the craft originated. Assisi work uses a method known as voiding in which cross stitch fills the background while the motif itself is left blank. Holbein stitch, a style of linear blackwork, is used to outline and emphasize the motif and to create surrounding decorative scrollwork.

Holbein stitch

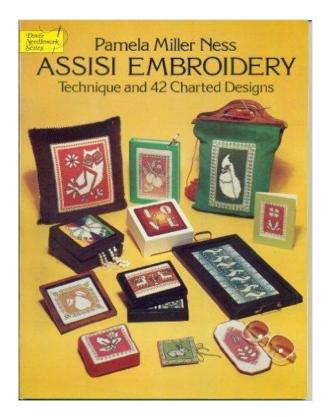

Holbein stitch is traditionally associated with blackwork. A line of running stitch is worked from left to right and then the second row of running stitch fills in the gaps. The stitch is reversible and would have been used on garments where both sides of the fabric were viewed.

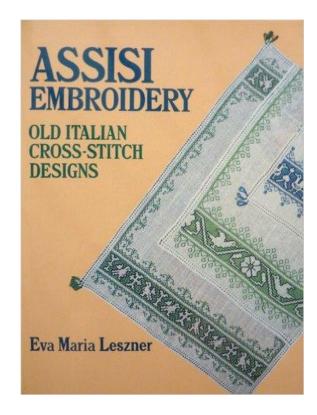

Patterns 77 - 78 consist of vertical bands of diagonal stitch, running stitch and fly stitch worked individually and as a line. DMC 310

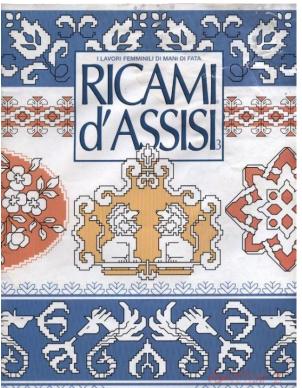

Pattern 81 Because of the small size of the Assisi band the stitch used is cross stitch DMC Coloris 4515, two strands. The band was outlined in back stitch to create a neater edge.

Why should I back stitch the outline?

If you look at the example I have only back stitched part of the outline. The area that is back stitched is neater!

Traditionally, Assisi embroidery was rarely worked in crossstitch but was most often in long-armed cross-stitch. Examples employing other stitches, such as Italian crossstitch and Algerian plait stitch, are also known. The colours of thread used were red, blue, green or gold for the background and black or brown for the outlines.

Traditional motifs were largely heraldic, especially heraldic beasts, and typically featured symmetrically arranged pairs of animals and birds surrounded by ornate filigree borders.

In the oldest pieces, the figures were drawn freehand on the fabric and surrounded with Holbein stitch. The background, often cream linen was filled as well as possible. For more modern pieces the pattern was constructed carefully on a paper grid in much the same way as counted cross-stitch patterns are created. Today Assisi embroidery is nearly always done this way.

There are a number of very good Assisi books available through Amazon if you wish to explore this technique further. These are three from my library which I find very useful.

Pattern 79 Cross crosslets

Technique: Backwork Stitch used: Back stitch Threads: DMC 310, one strand E3852

The cross crosslet is a religious emblem and heraldic symbol of Christian armies in the crusades. The cross, being a simple form, was one of the most common charges to be painted on a shield and it occurs in a great variety of forms.

CH0007 Cross Crosslets can be found in 'Charts' in Blackwork Journey

"And on his brest a bloodie crosse he bore,

The deare remembrance of his dying Lord,

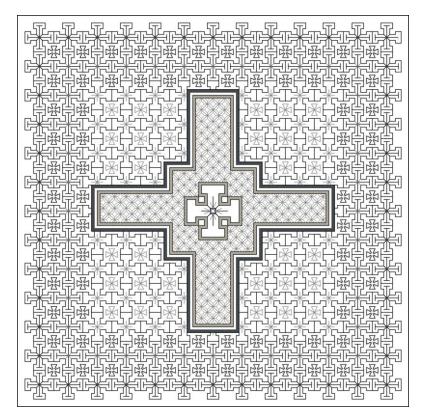

For whose sweete sake that glorious badge he wore,

And dead, as living ever, his ador'd: Upon his shield the like was also scor'd.

Slip stitch

Four-sided stitch used for edging accessories

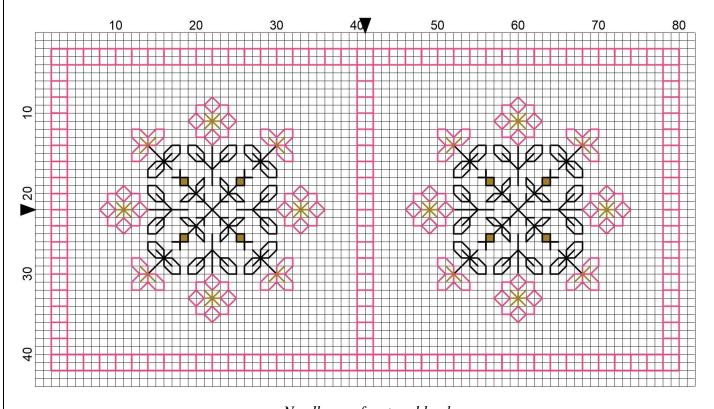

This consists of 3 straight stitches, to form the end, the middle and the top of the 'square'. Work from right to left over 4 threads. Always put the needle in at one corner and come out at the opposite one. Follow diagrams 1-3. Pull tight to create the holes.

Threads:

DMC stranded cotton 310, one skein

DMC 602 Cranberry, one skein or any colours used in main design.

Needlecase front and back

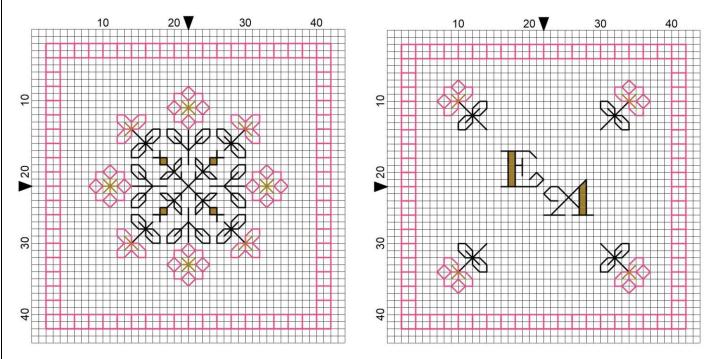

Needlecase - Method:

Work the four-sided stitch border around the full design over 4 x 4 threads using two strands of floss. Add the motifs shown or personalise it using the alphabet included below.

Making up - Count four threads up from the four-sided border. Fold the raw edges inside and back stitch through the four-sided stitch. Trim just beyond the stitching. Press lightly and then iron on the interfacing to cover the raw edges and prevent fraying. Attach the lining and embroidery together using slip stitch . Fold the felt insert in half and stitch into position using running stitch or machine stitch. Add the press stud, Velcro dot or button and loop to close the needlecase. Press lightly.

Pin cushion - Method:

Work the two separate four-sided stitch outlines. Add the embroidered motif and initials as desired. Count four threads up from the four-sided border. Fold the raw edges inside and slip stitch along the edge of the four-sided stitch to join them together. Press lightly and stuff. Slip stitch the hole closed.

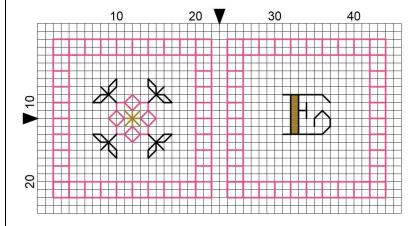

Pin Cushion - front and back

Pattern 83 Chinese floral border

I first saw this type of floral border carved in a wooden shutter in Chengdu, China. It was very delicate as a border but could also be developed into a more complicated motif.

Technique: Blackwork Stitches used: Back stitch Threads: DMC 310, DMC Coloris 4507, one strand

Pattern 84 Rabbit Heaven!

Just for fun add some rabbits and insects to the sampler in cross stitch and blackwork. Technique: Cross stitch, blackwork Threads: DMC Coloris 4519, DMC 310

Traditionally many samplers displayed animals, birds and insects as part of the design. These additions were not always in proportion and in some cases did not accurately resemble the animal intended! Mary, Queen of Scotland embroidered spot samplers containing animals in Tudor times and early pattern books provided inspiration.

Two examples displaying birds, insects and animals are shown below:

Sampler by Harriet Davis Gillett. 1836. Aged 11.

An interesting sampler showing the National School that Harriet Gillett would have attended. The two doorways marked B and G. denoting the separate entrances for Boys and Girls. Worked with coloured silks using cross and eyelet stitch. Contained in a broad mahogany frame.

Witney Antiques

Work bag 1669

Linen worked with wool thread; double running and herringbone stitch

Size: overall excluding tasselled cords: 181/2 x 24 inches (47 x 61 cm)

The detached motifs in the carefully organized yet lively design - human figures; native plants and flowers, including strawberries, acorns and honeysuckle; heraldic animals such as lions, leopards, and stags; and more prosaic creatures such as birds and caterpillars - are typical of those found on English embroidered textiles throughout this era

Pattern 85

The last pattern in Part 6 is derived from Pattern 84 taking the flowers and creating diagonal blackwork bands for effect.

Technique: Blackwork Threads DMC Coloris 4515, DMC 310

I hope you are enjoying embroidering the design and looking at the historical and personal details that have gone into the creation of this project. Many of the patterns relate to places I have been or designs that I have created over the years. A sampler is personal to the individual who created it so add your own touches to make it a reflection of your ideas.
